Catalog Statement

Student Development 103 is an introduction to customs unique to the American culture, prevalent American attitudes, United States immigration regulations affecting international students, and general principles for living and studying in the United States of America. Additionally, the course covers college academic regulations, requirements for transfer to four-year colleges and universities, college services, and specialized student support services. At the conclusion of the course, the student is able to produce a Student Education Plan.

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Student will be able to differentiate among the critical elements of living and studying in the United States versus those of his/her country of origin.
2. Student will be able to explain the college's academic regulations and understand immigration regulations affecting their F-1 visa status.
3. Student will be able to identify the college's support services and activities offered.
4. Student will demonstrate knowledge of courses required, with appropriate sequence, to initiate a student education plan.

Grading

This course is offered only as pass/no pass (no letter grade).

The pass/no pass will be based on:
