

Permission to Use Video Taped Material for Research Purposes

In Stacy Jazán's Spanish 101 class (Fall 2010) you were video taped as you participated in class activities.

My goal is to better understand how students learn in my class. It is likely that some aspects of this project will be presented or published in the future. In keeping with ethical standards for research, I am requesting your written permission to include excerpts of your video taped work for future presentations and publication purposes.

It is perfectly acceptable not to grant permission to use your work in this way, and I assure you that your decision will not adversely affect my opinion of you or your grade in the class. You may change your mind and withdraw your permission without explanation up to and including the last day of the semester.

Please sign and return this form.

I give permission to use video taped portions of my course work for publication and presentation purposes and understand that my name will not be included.
